

SEANKELLY

“Antony Gormley, Construct,” Time Out, May 2016.

TimeOut

Antony Gormley, “Construct”

New and early works make up the latest show by this British artist who has done much to further the role of the figure in contemporary sculpture. The works here range from his strangely mummified forms of the 1980s—life casts of Gormley’s own body encased in lead sheathing left with visibly soldered joints—to recent explorations of human anatomy as digitized, eight-bit forms rendered in three dimensions.